Tenth sewer break occurs

A new break in a sanitary sewer line in the Namsoki area was reported Friday by Street Superintendent Lionel Portt.

The break is located at 2546 Boyle Ave. and involves a partial collapse of the manhole.

Portt said.

The break is the tenth in a series of sewer line breaks that began in late February. None of the breaks have been repaired because street department workers have been unable to reach the broken lines because of a high water table.

The break is the tenth in a series of sewer line breaks that began in late February. None of the breaks have been repaired because street department workers have been unable to reach the broken lines because of a high water table.

Portt estimated repair costs at $210,000 after the eighth sewer break was reported a week ago, but the ninth break reported last week at 1505 St. Clair Ave., and the new break on Boyle Avenue will send the estimate upward, Portt said.

Engineers maintain little can be done until the stage of the Mississippi river drops and the water table recedes enough to reach the breaks, Granite City Council members have discussed awarding contracts on a cost-plus basis to repair the broken lines, but have not yet taken definite action.

Undisclosed meetings by Madison education board

State law on 'open meetings'

The Illinois Open Meetings Act of 1967 has resulted in extensive adherence to the regulations but occasional non-compliance by some taxing bodies in the state.

It covers all state and local governmental units. All committee meetings of any public body also are required to be public, including those of a "committee of the whole" or of rules committees.

The law specifies that both the deliberations and the actions, final or not, of all units of government must be conducted and taken at open public meetings. Exceptions permitted are much more limited than is generally understood by some agencies and boards.

For example, it is not true that all government matters may be considered in executive session. Only if the hiring or firing of personnel is involved, or if a complaint against personnel is being considered, may the governmental unit lower the curtain on that portion of its meeting.

While collective bargaining is an authorized exemption, unilateral salary changes, fringe benefits and working conditions cannot be either considered or decided privately.

Only a sharply restricted list of legal matters may be dealt with when the public is not present.

Even in instances where private discussion is permitted, it is not required to be so.

And in every case the law requires that all other portions of the meeting be open to the public rather than adding non-exempted topics to the closed-door discussion.

The law specifies that copies of the regular meeting schedule must be supplied to newspapers, radio and television stations and that such media are entitled to notice of all changes and all special meetings "in the same manner as is given to members of the body."

Mitchell boy, 5, drowns during family outing

David Lowell Graham, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James (Henrietta) Graham, of 627 Fleming St., Mitchell, died Sunday in the Goose Creek vacation area, near Bonne Terre, Mo., at about 11 a.m. Sunday and was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Bonne Terre (Mo.) Hospital.

According to the boy's father, the youngster was unconscious and was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

The boy, born in Granite City, was a preschool student at Logan School.

Other survivors are two brothers, Edward Wayne, and James Leonard Graham Jr., and a sister, Debora Michelle Graham, all at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Sanders, of Granite City. The paternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Graham.

Funeral arrangements are being in the obituary column.

Suit on busing in Madison opens today

A hearing on a suit to force busing in the Madison public schools opened at 9:30 a.m. today in Edwardsville before Judge James L. Monroe.

The court was to hear testimony today concerning the racial balance of the schools, and not on busing.

A court spokesman said the case "may very well take more than one day to hear."

Madison Community Unit School District No. 12 is transacting official business without compliance with Illinois statutes requiring notification of the news media or other representatives of the public, an investigation by the Press-Record disclosed today.

At the time the state law stipulating notification was adopted, the Press-Record formally asked all Quad-City area governmental agencies to place it on the list of those to be informed in advance of meetings.

Notification has been received by mail from District 12 of the regular monthly meetings, including the April 18 session.

However, the Madison Board of Education held official special meetings on April 5 and April 12, 1973, without notice to the Press-Record.

It is believed there was no action or indication April 5 regarding the April 5 meeting.

The Press-Record received no notification of the two special meetings, nor was information on the business transacted disclosed to the public.

Whether the secret nature of the meetings in any jeopardize the actions taken on those occasions has not been finally determined.

Harold T. Fisk was president of the board in 1972-73 and James Childers was elected as 1973-74 president in mid-April. A dominant figure on the board, Chester L. McManaway, is a past president.

Other board members are Donald Boyer, Frank L. Derner, Willie Walker and Theodes Kemp. Boyer was seated at the April 19 reorganization meeting, succeeding Sherrel L. Byrd.

McManaway pushed and shoved a Press-Record reporter at the April 19 session in an apparent effort to prevent discussions between board members from being heard.

A former city treasurer, McManaway had served on the school board for 18 years. The former truck driver owned a real estate and insurance agency and gained a foothold in Madison politics and is believed to have built a large-volume business, including governmental agencies and employees as customers.

The school board, without voting to go into executive session, had interrupted its deliberations on April 19 to descend a flight of stairs and review topics being voted upon.

Today's investigation disclosed that at the board's announced May 3 meeting, there was a 4-1 vote that a Press-Record newsman "shall not be allowed downstairs."

The motion by Fisk, seconded by Boyer, also was supported by McManaway and Kemp.

It was opposed by Walker. Board members absent were Childers and Derner.

Walker served as acting president at the May 3 meeting in the absence of President Childers. It was learned, the session lasted for more than two hours.

Actions taken at the announced meeting included granting approval for field trips by Blair School third graders to the Rockwood Reservation May 4; a Blair class to the St. Louis zoo and Forest Park May 11; third grade students to the Alton train depot, locks and dam May 17; Dunbar sixth graders to Meramec Caverns May 21; and Dunbar fourth grade pupils to the Museum of Transportation in St. Louis County May 23.

Action was taken on a 1973-74 school calendar, and it was decided to seek "prices" on fire doors for Madison Junior High School. A $765 estimate later was obtained.

A speaker for a May 23 Madison High School athletic banquet was disclosed by the May 3 special board meeting.

It was decided that there will be no adjustment in the salary of the high school principal or extra pay for the junior high principal "because the jobs of the administrators have been taken into consideration, with all attached and assigned duties duly considered."

The board instructed its administrative staff to arrange for a meeting with Madison Junior High School teachers and administrators to "review, discuss and seek opinions and a determination on half-day sessions or full-day sessions for the 1973-74 school year."

"Interest also was expressed in meeting with the parents of all sixth, seventh and eighth grade students as soon as possible."

Bid requests were sent to five companies on installing a new roof at the board office building at 1707 Fourth St.

Walker appointed Fisk as chairman and McManaway, Kemp, Boyer and Childers as members of a committee to seek specifications and prepare bid forms on cafeteria equipment "prior to purchasing."

Notification has been received by the Press-Record that the May regular meeting originally set for May 17 instead will be held tomorrow night.

On Thursday evening, board members are to attend a county meeting sponsored by the state superintendent, with Fred Bradshaw scheduled to discuss the "Outlook on State Funding for Schools."

Tomorrow night's agenda includes action on April and May minutes, payment of April salaries and bills, a financial report and North Central Association notice of continuing membership.

Administrators listed for 1973-74 employment consideration are John Palchett as assistant superintendent, Wade E. James as administrative assistant, Richard L. Brown as high school principal, Arthur Carter as assistant MHS principal, Earl McClanahan as Junior High School principal and Kenneth A. Williams, Bernard Long, Richard Spillers and

First Pontoon park selected

Pontoon Beach will soon open its first park in the village. The Village Board of Trustees last night voted to use seven acres of land owned by a church in the village as the first park.

Use of the land, located along Route 111 at the west edge of the Quiet Valley subdivision, was donated by Central Baptist Church, which is across Pine Street from the proposed park. Church officials have agreed to have fencing installed around the park and will carry liability insurance on the land. Ownership will remain with the church.

The village is to install playground equipment and develop a ball diamond. Village businessmen, contacted by village board members, are being asked to make contributions for equipment.

The per diem salaries of newly-elected village officials, including that of new Village President Floyd David Moss, have been placed into a special fund for parks and about $360 will be taken from that fund for equipment. Moss explained.

The board voted against establishing a chamber of commerce in the village and determined instead to join the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities. Dues of $75 for Moss were approved.

In an effort to spur business development in the village, the board voted to establish a businessmen's information center in the Village Hall and named Carl Hackney, a former trustee, to head the center.

The center will prepare literature on prospective business sites and will assist businessmen considering moving operations to the village or starting new businesses in Pontoon Beach.

A contract for purchase of new high band radios for use by the village police department was awarded to Wise Communications, Inc., on a $4,078 bid.

New logjam in Assembly

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield—Despite adoption of new rules and improvements in procedure, it is now certain that the 76th Illinois General Assembly will be unable to escape the traditional end-of-session logjam.

In fact, there are predictions that this year's windup may be the most hectic and frustrating of all.

With the progression to annual sessions and the holding of recessed sessions in the fall, the traditional June 30 adjournment date has become less significant than in the past.

But it is still highly important, for on July 1 the state government begins its new fiscal year and the new budget should be law by then.

Although the new Constitution is more liberal in this regard, there remain some questions as to when a bill passed after June 30 deadline remains a psychological signal, marking the peak of legislative endeavor.

Most legislators feel that if the big issues are not resolved by then, the session has been a failure—and any remedial action that may come later is only patchwork mending at best.

The situation this year as the session moves into its final six weeks is unique.

The cutoff date for introduction of bills has passed in both the House and Senate. Judging by the number of bills to be considered, the legislature should be in good shape.

Slightly more than 2,000 bills have been filed. This compares with 3,100 for an entire regular session.

But the problem is that revenue and appropriation bills are exempted from the cutoff dates. Worse yet, these are the key budget bills, the ones that actually provide for the operation of state government.

Virtually none of the budget bills have come from the governor's office.

When they do arrive, the "battle of the budget" is going to erupt and this in itself will be enough to tie the session in knots for weeks.

Meanwhile, the committee backlog on other bills has reached skyscraper proportions.

Senate committees are still wading through mountains of Senate bills and vice-versa in the House.

Whitmer returns to council committee post

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward was re-elected last week as a member of the Granite City Council's committee on public safety, following his resignation from the committee post.

Whitmer was placed back on the committee by council confirmation after he told the council that he had resigned "while I was in a huff" during the special May 1 council reorganization session.

"I don't want to shirk my duty," Whitmer said. Mayor Paul Schuler appointed Whitmer as chairman of the committee. Whitmer had been named chairman prior to his withdrawal on May 1.

The council also confirmed the appointment of Alderman Roy Paulos of the Third ward as the third member of the negotiating committee after Mayor Schuler called for a volunteer to replace Alderman Walter Nann of the Fifth Ward who also resigned as a member of that committee during the May 1 reorganization.

Under City Council rules, committee members are named by the council as a whole, but the mayor is given the right to name the committee chairman.

Nann also resigned from the intergovernmental committee and the council's special sewer committee in the May 1 meeting. He remained firm in those withdrawals last week, noting that both committees are virtually non-existent.

The negotiating committee—one of the council's major units in that it negotiates working agreements with unions representing city employees—was composed of Whitmer as chairman, Paulos and Frank Greenwald of the Second Ward.

In another committee change last week, Alderman Claude Green of the Fourth Ward resigned as chairman of the intergovernmental committee and was replaced as chairman by Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward.

Council members were informed last week by Alderman Everett Morlen of the First Ward that Lipsitt Steel Products Co. has agreed to make any future repairs to the city-owned fence at the entranceway to the steel firm on 23rd Street.

Morlen noted that extensive repairs were made recently to the fence where it had been damaged by trucks entering the company's grounds and that he had met with company representatives concerning the damage.

He said company officials told him they will be responsible for damages in the future. The fence skirts the open drainage ditch along 23rd Street.

American Bank honors employees for service

The American National Bank second annual Service Awards night was held at the bank last week.

Allen L. Jesse, executive vice-president, served as master of ceremonies and presented awards to recognize employees for length of service with the bank.

He presented one-year awards to Sylvia Robinson, Don Cave, and Charlotte McBride; a five-year award to Marilyn Tanase; a ten-year award to Helen Mangoff and a director's award to Ernest Bleckhaus.

A buffet dinner was served to 82 employees, directors, and their families with entertainment by Gene DeVoe, magician. Henry D. Karandjeff, board chairman, gave the closing remarks.

PARKED VEHICLES HIT

An auto driven by Wilbert E. Niepert, 2429 Woodlawn Ave., went out of control and struck a parked car shoving it into a parked pickup truck, both owned by William Hamilton, 2651 Lincoln Ave., at 1538 Johnson Road at 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

Kiwanis Breakfast Club gets charter

Receipt of the club charter and election of officers for the 1973-74 year were highlights of a meeting Thursday morning of the Granite City Kiwanis Breakfast Club at Grant City Restaurant.

Louis Bouillon, a representative of the Kiwanis International president, presented a temporary charter to the club with an announcement that official ceremony will be held July 9 at Charlie's Restaurant when the International President of the Illinois-Iowa Eastern District will be present.

Ray Grisham, who has been serving as the temporary president, was elected to the office with Norman Kinder as first vice-president; Herbert Camren, second vice-president; Mark Yehling, treasurer, and Jack Mulach, secretary.

Directors elected include Bob Worley, Norman Hall, Marvin Boyd, Howard Schuenke, David Wilson, Thomas Layloff and Robert Harris.

After the election, Bouillon presented the newly elected president with the Kiwanis presidential pin. Grisham addressed the club, thanking the members for their confidence in selecting him as the charter president.

Named to serve on a committee to complete arrangements for the official charter meeting in July were Thomas Layloff, chairman; Richard Wade, program; Norman Hall, tickets; Bernie Miller, attendance, and William Herman, publicity.

Guests who attended were two Edwardsville Kiwanians, Louis Enlow, lieutenant governor of District 14 and Homer Runge, a past lieutenant governor of the district.

Former POW leaves here with fond memories of GC children

When former prisoner-of-war Major Thomas E. Norris of Godfrey left Emerson School after giving a talk there this month, he left with more than a POW bracelet bearing his name that a teacher there had been wearing. Major Norris left with memories of Granite City children he will never forget, he has told friends.

Norris had been held captive in North Vietnam since his U.S. Air Force plane was shot down Aug. 12, 1967. He arrived at Scott Air Force Base from the Philippines on Sunday, March 18, and was greeted by 43 Emerson School third grade students and their teachers, including Mrs. Stella Davenport, an upper primary teacher who had worn a POW bracelet bearing his name for more than a year.

Since he arrived on a Sunday with little notice, Mrs. Davenport and other school personnel had a difficult task in rounding up the children and having them prepare signs and banners to display when he arrived.

He recalled arriving at Scott to see the small children waving the banners, and asked where they were from. Later he requested permission to come to Emerson to thank them for their interest.

The children had been following the POW situation with interest due to a newspaper teaching program conducted in all classrooms at the school.

On May 2, he was invited to address an assembly at Emerson and to answer questions from the children.

Teachers, administrators, cooks and custodians joined the students in the school gymnasium to hear him speak. During the assembly, he met Mrs. Davenport for the first time and collected the POW bracelet bearing his name from her, a customary gesture after a POW returns home safely.

After the assembly, Norris greeted each person, being very careful to pat or shake hands with each child.

Norris expressed deep appreciation to the children and teachers who greeted him at Scott Air Force Base. Children who went there from Mrs. Marjorie Schmidt's homeroom were Angie Adams, Nancy Butts, David Bettegus, Wayne Campbell, Kara Lynn Freeman, Kim DeGonia, David Kettelhub, Steve Kienle and David Medley.

Major Norris, 35, is married and has two children.

All profits from the affair will be given to charities in the names of the two organizations. In 1972, $2,000 was donated to the Edwardsville - Collinsville area hospital fund by the two groups.

Serving of fried chicken and barbecued pork steaks, with all the usual side dishes, will take place between 11:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Two big tents will be set up on the club grounds to accommodate patrons, where continuous entertainment will be featured throughout the day.

Nine musical groups will perform. They are The Old Guys, Dixieland group composed of Southern Illinois University faculty members; The Edwardsville High School Band and Swing Choir; The Sweet Adelines from Alton, a women's barbershop quartet; a Sing-Out group from St. Louis; Al Rezaek and Walt Schlemmer and his dance band; Ainal Temple's Brass Band; and The Noblemen, Ainal's orchestra; plus the Ainal Chorus.

Tickets will be purchased from any member of either organization for $2.75 per adult, and half price for children 12 and under. Tickets also will be available at the door on the day of the dinner.

French places second

in K. of C. spelling bee

Brad French, an eighth grader student at St. Joseph's school, placed second in the annual Madison County Knights of Columbus spelling bee held Friday night at the local K. of C. hall.

After an hour of word wizardry by 14 youths representing seven county K. of C. councils, the French youth missed on the word "mosaic," which was spelled correctly by Anne Plening of Bethalto, the new county champion. She then correctly spelled the word "revenue."

Third place was earned by Susan Moss of Collinsville. French was runner-up at the local K. of C. spell-down held last month. That contest was won by Rose Wasylak, also an eighth grader at St. Joseph's. French is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack French, 2250 Cleveland Blvd.

The winners and runnersup were presented trophies.

Emcee for the event was Miss Helen Kuenster, head of the English Department at Granite City High School. The master of ceremonies was Dan Stack of Granite City. Judges included Harry Hadley of Venice and Vincent Lohman of Collinsville.

Soda and hot dogs were served to about 60 students, adults and sisters.

Renovation projects

at university center

Three renovation projects in the University Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were approved Friday by the SIU Board of Trustees which met at Carbondale. The projects are estimated to cost a combined total of not more than $32,000.

The renovation will include a ten-foot arched doorway between two interior rooms in the Governor's Lounge to provide space for study carrels and an art gallery, installation of hardboard paneling in the River Rooms, installation of a glass security partition in the cafeteria area and installation of security screens on two stairwells.

Funds for the renovations will come from the student welfare and recreation building trust fund.

The trustees authorized SIUE President John S. Rendleman to approve design specifications for the projects and to receive bids and award contracts. Most of the work is expected to be done by university personnel.

A $12,498 contract for fencing to enclose the baseball grandstand seating area of Cougar Field also was approved by the SIU board.

Southern Illinois Fence Co. of Mount Vernon, Ill., was the successful low bidder on the project, with an estimated completion time of 45 days.

THE BILL AND BARRY SHOW. William F. Buckley Jr., left, host of the Public Broadcasting Service series, "Firing Line," produced his first program in this area at the studios of KETC-TV, Channel 9, featuring ecologist Barry Commoner (right) and students of Washington University. The Firing Line program is scheduled to be aired early in June, but will not be seen here unless viewers of Channel 9 help the station raise $5,400 in new membership income this month so that KETC-TV may subscribe to the new privately-syndicated program. The funding ends May 20 as a result of a budget cut by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. Viewers interested in seeing Firing Line continue on the air on Channel 9 are being asked to send $15 membership contributions to KETC-TV, 6996 Millbrook Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63130. Unless sufficient funds are raised by May 20, the program will go off the air in St. Louis, a station spokesman told the Press-Record.

Venice robbery

A man armed with a sawed-off shotgun took an undisclosed amount of cash from Tri-City Grocery, 400 Broadway, Venice, at 9 p.m. Thursday.

Witnesses say it was the same gunman who robbed the store of $2,900 March 19. Company officials have offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the robber.

Jack Kellems, 2015 Skoon St., Madison, the store's assistant manager, told police he had locked the store for the night at 9 p.m. and walked to a motor room in the back of the store where two other employees ended the day's receipts.

When he turned on the lights in the room he saw a man displaying a sawed-off shotgun standing in the corner.

The robber said, "Come here. Is there anyone else in the store?" Kellems reported to officers he told the man of the two up front and the man asked if the woman, Miss Beverly Provenza, 2127 Edwardsville Road, Madison, the head checker, would scream. Kellems said he did not know.

The robber said he had an other man outside watching the store from the front. He said the other man wanted to shoot them all, according to Kellems.

"Here's what I want you to do. Go up to the front and call them (the employees) down to us," the robber was quoted. Kellems said the robber followed him to the front of the store where Miss Provenza and Kevin Curry of East St. Louis, an employee who was the victim of the last holdup there, came out of the office and joined Kellems and the robber.

The employees were reportedly told to lie on the floor but Miss Provenza then was told to stand.

"You know what I am here for. I was here last night. How much have you got up there? Ten thousand dollars or better?" the gunman reportedly asked.

Miss Provenza said most of the money had been deposited in the bank. The gunman told her, "Bring me back at least $2,000. Don't try to call anyone. If you do, he will be the first to go." The robber pointed the

1963 AUTO STOLEN

Danny Curtis, 2300 Adams St., reported at 7 a.m. Friday that his 1963 four-door auto was stolen while it was parked at the side of his home after midnight.

The robber then told everyone to return to the motor room and "get down on the floor." He looked at his watch, said it was 9:20 p.m. and told the victims not to call anyone until 10 p.m., police reported.

The robber said he was going to be in the front of the store 15 minutes waiting for his friend to pick him up. He asked Curry if he remembered him from the first robbery and Curry replied that he did.

The man was seen by several witnesses leaving the store through the front door. He walked east along the side of the store and toward Six Street in the alley, according to police. He ran into a girl on a bicycle in the alley and then ran across the street to a car parked in front of the rectory of St. Mark's Church.

He opened the trunk of the auto, placed the bag in the trunk and closed it. He then drove Broadway and turned north, witnesses told officers.

The robbery victims looked through a window at the rear of the store and the robber left and called police when they found he was gone. Madison and Venice police arrived moments after the robber's car drove away. They were unable to locate the car.

It was described as a black or dark colored 1964 Buick 225. The robber was described as a six-foot, 25 years of age, about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, having a light brown complexion with small brown spots, and a mustache which was heavy in the center and trimmed thin on the edges.

He was wearing a green-checked hat with a yellow brim, a tan cloth windbreaker jacket, green dress trousers and leather shoes which extend above his ankles. He also wore a gold watch with a gold band.

His gun was believed to be a 12-gauge shotgun with the barrel sawed off about one inch past the stock. The witnesses said the gun looked like it was about to fall apart and the stock kept coming loose from the barrel.

Trojan luck stays bad; lose in 7th

For the second time in two days the baseball Trojans of Madison High School lost a game by one run in the bottom of the seventh inning, 5-4 Thursday at Litchfield.

It happened the day before at Highland where St. Paul tripped the Trojans 9-2.

Litchfield scored two runs in the first inning but the Trojans came back with three in the third and one in the sixth and were ahead 4-2 going into the final frame when the winners pushed three runners across the plate.

In the third inning with one out the Trojans tagged five straight hits. Carl Turner, Ron McLaughlin and then Jay Greer singled to load the bases. Kevin Ditch singled home Turner and McLaughlin. Greer was thrown out at third, and Jon Henke singled scoring Ditch.

Kevin Werner was the losing pitcher though he gave up only four hits. The Trojans totaled six hits and five runs as they committed five errors.

Madison ended its regular season at 5-14, was an improvement over last year's record of 1-17.

MHS will play at 4 p.m. Tuesday against Collinsville at Edwardsville in the district tourney.

Trojans tie for 2nd at 21-school relays

The Trojan trackmen of Madison High School tied for second place Thursday afternoon at the 21-school Roxana Relays at Roxana.

Mascoutah won the event with 48 points and Madison and Wood River each had 45. Trailing were Lebanon with 26, O'Fallon 27, Mount Olive and Highland 26, Roxana 18, Breese Mater Dei 17, Columbia and Bethalto 13, Triad 8, Southwestern of Plais 6, Dupo 5, Jerseyville, Highland St. Paul and Carlinville 3, Westview and Red Bud 2 and Okawville and Alton Marquette 0.

The Trojan relay teams were strong as the mile relay squad of Roger Glasper, John Newsum, Mike Turner and Kevin Boyd turned in its best time of the year to win in 3:41.

The 880-yard relay squad also was victorious, with a time of 1:34.1. Glasper, Newsum, Chris Stanley and Boyd composed that team.

The low hurdle shuttle relay team tied for second with Mascoutah, each with 58.9. Wood River at 57.2 won the event. Trojans in the shuttle relay were Kevin Jackson, Willie Shear, Osbert Lomax and a D. Stanley.

Robin Pritchard won the heavy man's 100-yard dash, again setting a faster time than in the regular 100. Pritchard clocked 1:0.6 while the winner of the 100-yard dash went 10.7. Milton Bennett of Madison was third in the heavy-weight 100.

Kevin Boyd finished second in the regular 100, also with a 10.7 and Joe Young was fourth. During preliminary events, Boyd ran the event in 0.4.

Cougars take 3 of 4 from Western

It was a happy ride back from Macomb, Ill., Saturday night for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team. The Cougar baseballers of Coach Roy E. Lee had just captured three out of four from a very strong Western Illinois University club to turn SIUE's record to 22-4. Western dropped to 20-13.

In the four-game series, the Cougars split a pair Friday, winning the opener 7-6 and dropping the second game 11-2. Saturday, the Cougars, who got the news that they'd just qualified for their fourth straight Midwest regional tourney berth of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, clobbered Western, winning the first game 7-2 and capturing the second decision 10-2. The veteran Coach Lee, while saying "it's great to be on a winner," warned his charges "we can't let down and depend on our press clippings because we must meet the challenge of UMSL and Eastern early this week and then take on Austin Peay University three times this weekend."

He was talking about Tuesday's single game with the Cougars' arch rival, the University of Missouri, St. Louis. Rivermen, at SIUE in a game at 3 p.m., and a pair with Eastern Illinois University Wednesday at Cougar Field beginning at 1 p.m. SIUE will play Austin Peay in a single game Friday and a twin bill here Saturday.

Tuesday's game with UMSL, which is 19-5 for the season, could well be a preview of the Little World Series of NCAA college division baseball championship finale at Springfield, Ill., early in June. The two schools were two of four schools to make it to the finals of the NCAA last season. SIUE beat UMSL in the national to eliminate the Rivermen. The Cougars finished third.

The four-game set with Western gave Lee an added insight and judgement on his pitching strength. In Saturday's sweep over WIU, the Cougars' two starting hurlers, Nick Baltz in the nine-inning first game, and Larry Johnson in the seventh inning contest, looked, and were, impressive. In Friday's two seven-frame games, Ron Rohlfing had to have help (Wilderness) to win his game 7-6, while southpaw Stan Hawkins suffered his first loss.

Rohlfing's 7-6 victory over Western brought his record to 6-0, but Rifle Ron's control is still shaky. Baltz and Johnson, the other hand, were never in any trouble. Nick is 2-0, while Johnson is now 4-0. There looms one dark note in the SIUE baseball future: standout Tom Twellman is entering the hospital Tuesday for exploratory surgery in his chest and will miss all this week's games. It is hoped that the brilliant defensive ace and clutch hitter Twellman will be able to play in the regional tourney.

Land for Chouteau garage is offered

A site for a new Chouteau Township highway department building has been tentatively offered to the township by the Illinois Power Co. Jim Estes, township highway commissioner, has announced.

The township's old storage shed on Chouteau Island was inundated when the island was flooded.

The land is between Paradise and Warsaw lanes, north of Davies' Place. A 200-ft strip near the end of the two lanes is being considered, Estes said.

He said the township is to call a meeting of residents on Warsaw and Paradise to ask their approval for the plan which would require township trucks using their streets.

A seven-week summer school program will be offered to public and private elementary and junior high grade students in the Granite City School District beginning June 4 and ending July 20.

Classes will be conducted from 8:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. for elementary students and 8 a.m. to noon for junior high students, and eight centers are established for elementary students.

They are Washington for Washington and Logan students, Emerson for Emerson, Nidringhaus and McKinley students, Marshall for Marshall, Wilson and Webster students, Frohardt for Frohardt and Parkview students, Stallings for Lake and Stallings students, and Mitchell, Maryville and Nameoki, Johnson students may contact the principal of that school.

On the junior high level, strengthening classes for grades 7 and 8 will be offered in language arts, social studies, arithmetic, and make-up classes for grade 9 will be offered in English II, general math II, algebra II and general science II.

Non-credit special interest classes for grades 7, 8 and 9 are offered in art enrichment, band, conservation, creative dramatics, homemaking, with emphasis on clothing, film making for teenagers, logic, enriched mathematics, model building, plastics, repair of small engines, minibikes and power mowers, beginning amateur radio and international

Morse code and enriched physical activities for girls and boys.

All incoming seventh grade students may take a band at Coolidge, Grigsby at the elementary centers and may take one other course.

Basic elementary courses will include basic mathematics, arithmetic, language arts (spelling, writing, phonics and comprehension and grammar) and speech therapy.

Special interest offerings for students in grades 3, 4, 5 and 6 include:

Band at Marshall, Emerson, Nameoki and Frohardt; use of library at Emerson; community resources at Emerson; arts and crafts at all centers; creative dramatics and writing at Nameoki and Washington; conservation and ecology at Nameoki; and health, first aid and safety at Washington.

School officials recommended that students in grades 3, 4, 5 and 6 taking band or speech therapy also participate in some other phase of the program.

Charles Weiss of Grigsby, coordinator of the elementary and junior high programs, said children enroll in summer school for strengthening, reinforcement and relearning in specific areas of study where they are lacking while others enroll for the enjoyment of relearning in a learning situation during the summer when they investigate subjects not necessarily available during the school year.

Students who enroll in special interest classes with insufficient enrollment can enroll in another class or have their fee refunded.

Supply and material fees of $2.50 for elementary children and $3 for junior high children should accompany applications which are now being accepted.

Two GC coeds to study in Mexico during fall

Kathleen Jernigan and Susan Kemper of Granite City are among 31 Blackburn College students who will study at the University of the Americas in Mexico next fall under a new Semester in Mexico Program initiated by the college.

Miss Jernigan, majoring in psychology, and Miss Kemper, majoring in social sciences, were chosen by a family selection committee to be in the third group of Blackburn students to participate in the program. Both are freshmen.

Students will undergo an intensive three-week preparatory course on the Blackburn campus in Carlinville in early September, then travel to the University of the Americas, 80 miles east of Mexico City at Puebla, for the fall quarter there.

Students will pay the normal Blackburn tuition, board and charges for her semester, which because of Blackburn's work program totals only $875. Because of low costs in Mexico, this will cover room, board, tuition and transportation costs for their study at the University of the Americas.

Although the program is planned particularly for students majoring in Spanish to give them the experience of living in a Spanish speaking country and to augment their courses in Spanish literature, other Blackburn students are eligible to participate. Classes in other areas at the university are conducted in English.

Claim home units would block Pontoon drainage

Efforts to block the construction of a modular home project in Pontoon Beach have been initiated by Floyd David Moss, village president, and by Louis Whittell, Nameoki Township supervisor.

Moss and the village attorney, Horace Calvo, on Friday prepared a letter to the builder, Ed Moore Construction Co., asking that work be halted while the village studies drainage and sanitary plans. The letter was to be delivered to Moore today.

Village and township residents have charged that the complex of 27 modular homes, being constructed between Breckenridge Lane and Lake Drive near Central Lane, is blocking a natural ponding area and would cause flooding of homes nearby.

Whittell has written letters to state Sen. Sam Vadalabene, the Madison County Environmental Department, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and other departments asking for assistance in stopping the project.

Boosters bombed, Mercer battles for 7-6 victory

The score was 28-5 but it was not slow pitch softball. It was Inter-City Baseball at Pleasanton, where the Indians devastated the St. Mary's Boosters Sunday, while at Wilson Park Mercer edged out Glen Carbon 7-6 in an 11-inning game.

"It was raining baseballs," was the only comment Booster Coach Jim Greer wanted to make. The Indians scored 10 runs in the sixth and eighth innings, three runs in the first and ninth innings, and collected 28 hits.

Piasa's Jim Lynn was six-for-six at bat with three singles, a double, triple and grand slam home run for nine RBIs.

Don Dunk started on the mound for the Boosters, was relieved by Bob Petrofsky in the sixth and Walt Warfield came in the seventh.

Jim Cromer belted a four-bagger with two men on in the fourth for St. Mary's, and in the seventh John Bunk tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Tom Voloski.

"We will play Roxana in next week and our ace pitchers John Pichochinski should be with us along with Frank Piasa. We couldn't have handled Piasa even with Steve Carlton," Greer added.

Mercer's Steve Corey started out the bottom of the 11th inning with a walk and went to second on a sacrifice fly by Pat Harris. Rich Schardan, who saw three-for-five, singled him home.

Cherry sharp GCHS golfers 4th at district, Alton wins

Miss Cherry Sharp, a senior at Granite City High School, won the running long jump competition in the girls district track meet at Wood River Saturday and will compete in the state finals meet at Charleston May 19.

Thirteen schools competed at Wood River. Cahokia won the event. Granite City was seventh.

Miss Sharp also finished third in the high jump, but only the top two in each event advance to the state tournament.

Sherry Marchman was third in the 50-yard dash for Granite City and Lee Ruth was fourth in the discus. Rose Harolan set the best time of the day in trials for the 80-yard hurdles but suffered a leg injury and finished fifth in the final.

Other fifth's went to Pam Schair in the 800-yard run and to the 400-yard relay team. Miss Sharp jumped 14 feet, 10 inches, in the running long jump Saturday but has bettered the 15 foot mark in practice.

Other medalists were Bob Hoeltling of Carlinville at 77 and four with 78—Tim Hilden of Alton, Jim Triebes of Edwardsville, Denny Gehrig of Highland and John Ducey of Jerseyville.

Granite City's lowest score was clay Winfield with a round of 79. He was followed by Rick Bohrenstien at 82, Brad Bickhaus 84 and Tim Behrens 86. Finishing out of contention for team scoring were Mark Harrison with 88 and Don Grees with 89.

Mercer's Steve Corey started out the bottom of the 11th inning with a walk and went to second on a sacrifice fly by Pat Harris. Rich Schardan, who saw three-for-five, singled him home.

Mercer totaled eight hits and committed two errors, while Glen Carbon had eight hits and was charged with six errors.

Chadwick, the winning pitcher, was relieved in the sixth inning by Vic Reznack. Dave Huddleston was two-for-four with two RBIs and Steve Schardan had four RBIs.

Mercer is now 2-0. In other Inter-City baseball action Van's beat Troy 5-4 and Highland-Pierson downed Mollitor 11-3.

Quad-City drag racing cars dominate events

Quad-City area pro-stock drag racing cars again dominated the action Saturday night and yesterday at St. Louis International Raceway, "adding to the growing evidence that Granite City is becoming one of the top centers in the Midwest for the building of pro-stock equipment," according to 11:45 p.m. Sunday at 2700 W. 20th St. on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Rain stop feature race

Rain halted the racing of the feature racing event Friday night at the Tri-City Speedway, but a full evening of racing transpired before the shower began.

C. C. Corbin of East Alton was the fastest late model car qualifier of the night at .26.87 seconds on the half-mile oval. The track point leader, Wil Spalding, of Pontoon Beach, spun his car in both qualifying laps and had to start on the rear in all subsequent events.

John Prior of Centerville won the first heat, the second win went to Don Carter of Hillsboro and Spalding moved from the rear through the pack to win the third heat.

Corbin passed Prior to win the handicap but a radiator in Corbin's car blew up at the checkered flag.

In the semi-feature, Spalding started on the rear and moved quickly into contention against Bill Faust of Lebanon for the lead. With two laps remaining, Spalding took over from the front spot and held on for the victory.

Tom O'Hair of Jerseyville won the first hobby car race. The second hobby car event also was canceled by the rain.

A special 35-lap feature event will highlight next Friday night's program at the local speedway.

State flood insurance seminar here May 16

The fifth in a statewide series of flood insurance seminars has been changed from Pere Marquette State Park, Grafton, to the Sunset Hills Holiday Inn, Frank A. Kirk, director of the state Department of Local Government Affairs, has reported.

The May 16 seminar was moved because, of all things, flooding.

The seminar is part of a campaign to assist communities in securing flood insurance protection in conjunction with the National Flood Insurance Program, Kirk said.

Only a few communities have participated in the four-year-old flood insurance program, and a resident cannot purchase insurance until his community has applied for the program, it was noted.

Local level officials in the west and southwest areas of the state have been invited to learn about land planning to minimize flooding, community application to the program and sale of insurance to individuals, Kirk related.

Registration will begin at the Holiday Inn at 8:30 a.m. next Wednesday. There will be no fee.

MRS. DAVID WATKINS, the former Miss Sue Ann Welsh, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Welsh, 2825 Dogwood Drive. Her wedding took place Saturday evening at Grace Baptist Church.

Grace Baptist scene of Watkins-Welsh wedding

Miss Sue Ann Welsh, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Welsh, 2825 Dogwood Drive, became the bride of David Lynn Watkins, a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wyatt Watkins of Hereford, Tex., Saturday evening at Grace Baptist Church.

The Rev. Louis Brinker and the Rev. Lehman Rorex, the groom's grandfather, performed the double-ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Marjorie Ellsworth sang "The Wedding Song" and The Lord's Prayer, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Bill Ellsworth.

For her wedding, the bride chose a petite white Chantilly lace gown designed with a ruffled neckline and lace jabot. The long bishop sleeves ended at the wrists with ruffled cuffs. A wide gathered flounce formed the hemline of the flared silhouette skirt. She wore a chapel-length mantilla veil and carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses and baby breath.

Miss Paula Welsh, a sister of the bride, was honor attendant and Misses Diana and Sandy Watkins, both sisters of the groom, and Miss Laura Knackstedt were bridesmaids. They were gowned in identical dresses in a rainbow of colors including aqua, lilac, yellow and apricot. The frocks were fashioned with fitted bodices with high collars and full bishop sleeves with wide wrist bands of floral print voile.

The a-line skirts of solid colored voile were created with double-ruffled flounces at the hemline and pleated cummerbunds defined the waists. Each girl wore a white spun straw picture hat and held colonial bouquets of white carnations, yellow and pink roses.

Don North attended the groom as best man. Dan James, Roger Miller, Bruce Buttery, Ralph Thompson and Tom Rushing completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Miss Susan Davis presided over the guest book at a reception given in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, parents of the groom, were hosts at a rehearsal dinner given at the Flaming Pit Restaurant in Edwardsville.

Both mothers selected formal-length dresses. Mrs. Welsh was in a sky-blue chiffon gown and Mrs. Watkins chose a pink dress. They both wore white orchid corsages.

The newly married couple are residing in Lubbock, Tex., where the groom is a junior at Texas Technical College majoring in architecture. They both graduated from Granite City High School.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were the Rev. and Mrs. Lehman Rorex, Walnut Ridge, Ark., and Mrs. Mary Marburger and Mrs. Ollie Schiebe, both of Litchfield, Ill.

Patrick contests GC Park District election count

Robert Patrick, apparent unsuccessful candidate for election as a commissioner of the Granite City Park District in April 17 balloting, filed a petition last week contesting the election of Clarence Baumeier and Jacob Hinterser.

Named as defendants were Baumeier, Hinterser and the park district. A hearing on the case is to be set by Associate Circuit Judge Roy Strawn in the Granite City court.

An unofficial count in the election, affirmed in a canvass made on April 19, indicated that Baumeier had defeated Patrick by seven votes.

The petition alleges that election judges in the three park precinct polling places erred in their count of the votes and erred in their judgment as to spoiled or unspoiled ballots cast for Patrick.

The suit maintains that Patrick received a sufficient number of legal votes to elect him.

MRS. ROBERT ALEC KURILLA, the former Miss Patricia Marie Mayer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mayer, 19 North Crown Drive, Collinsville, who was married at St. Stephen's Catholic Church, Caseyville, Friday evening.

Patricia Mayer becomes Mrs. Robert A. Kurilla

St. Stephen's Catholic Church, Caseyville, was the scene of the wedding Friday evening of Miss Patricia Marie Mayer and Mr. Robert A. Kurilla.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mayer, 19 North Crown Drive, Collinsville, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Kurilla, 2929 Grand Ave.

The Rev. Joseph C. Hays officiated at the 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony.

Mr. Mayer escorted his daughter up the white carpeted, candlelight aisle and gave her in marriage. The bride wore a full length gown fashioned of sateu peau designed with an Empire bodice lavishly trimmed with tulle and lace that formed the yoke and high collar. Matching delicate lace created the long fitted sleeves.

Mr. Mayer escorted his daughter up the white carpeted, candlelight aisle and gave her in marriage. The bride wore a full length gown fashioned of sateu peau designed with an Empire bodice lavishly trimmed with tulle and lace that formed the yoke and high collar. Matching delicate lace created the long fitted sleeves.

Her semi-controlled skirt of sateu peau terminated at the hemline with a very wide border of gathered tulle lace that also edged the removable train that fell gently into a chapel length.

She wore a bouffant shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion and held a nosegay of carnations and roses tied with the ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Mary Mundy, a cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor with Miss Michelle Mayer, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids Mrs. Robert Fehlig, Mrs. Robert LeMay and Miss Marilyn Rogers, a cousin of the groom.

Yellow, pink, lilac, blue and green fashioned the rainbow color gowns made of chiffon over tulle. They were designed in Empire style featuring a stand-up collar. The long sheer sleeves were cuffed at the shoulder with white fragile lace. Each carried a basket of white daisies.

Miss Michelle LeMay, the flower girl, was escorted down the aisle by Thomas Elliff, cousin of the bride.

Barbara Sue Parks and Thomas Trittschuh wed

Miss Barbara Sue Parks and Thomas Robert Trittschuh were united in marriage April 28 in an evening ceremony at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Parks, 2541 East 24th St.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trittschuh, parents of the groom, reside at 2512 Roney Drive.

The Rev. Robert L. Kettelhut officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. The sanctuary was illuminated with lighted tapers in branched candelabras and the altar was adorned with bouquets of white mums. Kayen McCrone and Mitchell Martin served as candlelighters.

Small satin bows enhanced the sleeves and small stand-up collar.

A Chantilly lace profile headpiece secured the cathedral length veil edged in matching lace. Her bouquet was a cascade of white butterfly roses, baby breath and stephanotis.

The honor attendant was Miss Marilyn Martin, cousin of the bride, and Miss Paula Squires, Becky Trittschuh, cousin of the groom, served as flower girl.

They were attired in pastel-colored, floor-length dresses of organza featuring low round sheer necklines accented with stand-up collars. Elbow-length, sheer puffed sleeves were cuffed in a small ruffle.

Tiers of ruffled organza formed the full bouffant skirts. Matching picture hats decorated with moline bows complemented their attire. The maid of honor chose a pale blue frock and the maids were in orchid, mint and yellow gowns. The flower girl wore a dress similar to the bride's gown of

MR. AND MRS. DAVID A. JENKINS whose wedding took place at Calvary Baptist Church. She is the former Miss Lana Kay Lupardus a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lupardus, 2515 Morrison Road.

Couple exchange vows at Calvary Baptist Church

Miss Lana Kay Lupardus, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lupardus, 2515 Morrison Road and David Andrew Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkins, 2158 State St., exchanged wedding vows on May 4 at Calvary Baptist Church, 300 Washington Ave., in an evening ceremony.

Officiating at the 7 o'clock double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Alfred Slayter assisted by the Rev. Henry Mack, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Arrangements of white pom poms decorated the altar and burning tapers in aisle hurricane lamps illuminated the white carpeted aisle.

Organist Mrs. Ed Mullens was accompanied by guitarists, Larry Smallie and John Grindstaff for the soloist, Mrs. Ron Simpson, as she sang, "Sunrise, Sunset," "Here, There and Everywhere" and "The Wedding Song."

For her wedding, the former Miss Lupardus, chose a ivory silk organza gown, designed in a Victorian style with a lace fitted bodice featuring a sheer yoke and high lace collar, and long tapered sleeves.

Her full-length controlled skirt was accented with lace appliques at the hemline and repeated on the edge of the detachable chapel length train.

She wore a lace Juliet cap to secure her shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion and held a bouquet of daisies, blue and white pom poms, pink rose buds and baby breath.

Miss Cathy Hennrich, the honor attendant, wore a pink chiffon Empire style gown, fashioned with long sleeves ending in a ruffled cuff.

Miss Carla Lupardus and Miss Tammi Lupardus, both sisters of the bride, served as bridesmaids and were gowned in blue chiffon dresses, designed identical to the maid of honors. All girls wore white picture hats and carried bouquets of pink and blue pom poms with baby breath.

The groom chose Ed Mullens to serve as his best man. Jack LaPeire, Mike Adams, Thomas Jenkins, a brother of the groom, and Norman Hessler, an uncle of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Charles Adams, a cousin of the bride, registered the guests at a reception held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony.

A rehearsal dinner was given for members of the wedding party at Temple's Restaurant.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The bride was employed as a bookkeeper until her marriage. They are now residing in Colorado Springs, Colo., where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Army.

MRS. MAYCOCK WILL LEAD EPSILON ETA

Mrs. Shirley Fountain, 3261 Erin Drive, entertained members of the Epsilon Eta Sorority Wednesday evening. The hostess, who is also president, conducted the meeting.

Plans were completed to forward $25 to the Salvation Army for aid to flood victims.

A mother-daughter banquet held May 6 at Charlie's was reviewed. Favors were corsages and recipe holders.

Officers for 1973-74 announced last week were Mrs. Barbara Maycock, president; Mrs. Carol Grove, vice-president; Mrs. Nancy Sabo, secretary; and Mrs. Glenda Moore, treasurer.

The evening's educational program was given by Mrs. Glenda Moore on "First Aid."

The group presented Mrs. Mary Ellen Boyer with a gift in honor of her new child.

Announcement was made that the sorority will not meet during the summer. Next regularly scheduled meeting, in September, will be a "guest night."

The coming year's programs will be following a ceramic theme for the first six months and a gardening theme for the remainder of the year.

A family and guest outing to Grant's Farm is set for Saturday, June 2, with Mrs. Joyce Jenness in charge of arrangements.

Others attending were Mesdames Margaret Kuenler, Brenda Luebbert and Charlotte Talbot.

Children's art projects entered in the 1973 "Acres of Art" will be displayed, and reports will be given on class field trips and the picnic set for May 26 at the Baptist Grounds in Milledge.

66-year old LaSalle City Hall modernizes with Electric Heat

A conversion to modern electric heat is an important element in the extensive remodeling program underway in the LaSalle, Ill., City Hall, which was built in 1907.

In the first phase of remodeling, now being completed, an electric furnace and electric baseboards are being installed in the police department area of the building. The remainder of the building will be converted to electric heat as the remodeling progresses. Meantime, the original coal furnace will be used until the conversion is complete.

The addition of insulation to all outside walls will help insure quiet and efficient comfort.

In the modernization of any building, electric heat can play an important role. It saves space, reduces maintenance and provides individual room or zone temperature control. For complete information, call the Commercial Sales Representative at our office.

Space station to find out if man can reach planets

By FRANK MACOMBER

Scientists and astronauts believe the most important experiment during the Skylab series will be the impact of a two-month stay in space on the human body and mind.

The first Skylab mission, scheduled for liftoff May 14, is pegged for only a month, or 28 days. But the second and final flights are scheduled for 56 days each. During all three missions, the three-man Skylab crews will be monitored constantly from earth to measure their physical performance and behavior during their 270-mile-high, long-endurance journeys around the world.

How man gets along in the weightlessness of space for months at a time is vital to the future of his plans to fly some day to the planets. If two-month missions should impair the astronauts' health or damage them psychologically, flights to the planets beyond the moon would be ruled out, for they would require years in space.

Astronaut Alan L. Bean, who will command the second Skylab mission and the first assigned to a 56-day flight, sees the impact-of-space study as the most vital experiment of the 100 or more scheduled for the three rides around the globe.

"This is the first time we've had the space available to really adequately test a guy up there to see how he behaves under zero gravity for long periods," says Bean, the fourth man to set foot on the moon. He explored the lunar surface in November 1969, during the Apollo 12 mission, along with Charles (Pete) Conrad, the veteran spaceman who will command the Skylab I flight in mid-May.

"We really don't know what will happen to a guy over long periods, and this is probably in my mind the single most important thing we're going to do in Skylab," Bean emphasizes. "We've got to find out whether man does have a future in space for long journeys."

On Apollo 12, 12 days or so, and you could sort of camp out and eat food that's not quite as good as it could be. You could work until you really were out of gas, and then delve back for some back resources—physical, mentally and every other way."

INSIDE SKYLAB—Women aren't going to fly in Skylab, America's first manned space station, not right away, anyhow. But here Stephanie Smith, associate engineer in crew systems at the Martin Marietta Corp., a Denver Division, explains equipment location inside the Skylab docking adapter to Astronaut William R. Pogue, assigned to fly aboard the Skylab mission later this year. And Miss Smith says she's ready to fly, if anybody should invite her.

A medical doctor will fly on the first Skylab mission and a dentist on each of the other two, leaving slots for two pilots on each mission. Answering questions from many scientists that they are not well enough represented on the Skylab missions, Donald (Deke) Slayton, chief of the astronauts, has this to say: "Everybody has his own favorite choice of crew combinations. From three pilots, three scientists on each flight. But we feel the combination we have at the present time gives us the best balance in terms of getting the maximum return from every mission."

It was Slayton who assigned the crews. He is scheduled to fly in the first time in mid-1973 as a member of the three-man American crew assigned to join a Russian crew for the first international mission in space.

To make sure they aren't forced back to earth because of physical ailments or because they haven't fulfilled their missions, Skylab crews have been trained to pull teeth and stitch wounds if necessary.

"We'll have to be pretty sick to consider coming down early," says Conrad. "The big orbiting Skylab will carry enough medical equipment to outfit a small emergency ward and the crews are a lot better trained in first aid than the average policeman or fireman," Conrad claims.

"We've been trained how to pull teeth at military bases, so we will know how if somebody gets a real killer of a toothache up there."

Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, who will fly on the Skylab I mission as the first U.S. medical doctor in space, says he's taking along medical equipment for detection and cure of diseases and injuries similar to what a general practitioner would have in his office. That includes splints for broken bones, recovery aids for a heat seizure and even the performing of a tracheotomy or throat operation through the skin.

Astronaut Paul J. Weitz, the third member of the first Skylab crew, says only half-jokingly that one of his fears on the mission is that the airlock on the garbage container might jam.

"If that happens we're going to be inundated with an unbelievable amount of trash," he warns. "It would be horrible."

Scientists and industrialists are primed to watch Skylab astronauts as they test the possibilities of making a perfect weld under weightless conditions.

"Nature can't make perfect crystals," Conrad explains. "We think we can outside the pull of earth's gravity."

Industrialists believe if this theory is true, ball bearings and other shapes could be produced perfectly in space.

The first Skylab crew, due for medical isolation for three weeks before liftoff to avoid communicable diseases, is ready, and so is their spacecraft, according to Conrad. The launch, originally scheduled for May 1, was postponed two weeks because testing schedules fell behind.

"Now everything appears to be solved," says Conrad. "It's ready to go. I volunteered for this duty and I'm looking forward to it as much or more than going to the moon."

Of course it won't be like living at the Astor, but the nine U.S. astronauts who will occupy America's first manned space station beginning in mid-May will have food and accommodations unmatched on any previous space missions.

Living quarters will be more comfortable than the cramped spaces in the Apollo spacecraft, for example, and meals will compare with those you can order in many good down-to-earth restaurants.

There will be private bedrooms, a well-equipped ward-room for meals and relaxation, and the first sure-enough space bathroom.

The 168,000-pound Skylab, set for launch May 14, is the largest spaceship yet built. It contains about as many square feet as a two-bedroom house, with a den, and has enough extra room to equip a laboratory for some 100 scheduled space experiments.

Skylab will be the home of the first three-man Apollo crew for 28 days and later will house two other crews for 56 days each.

"If we're going to have a long-term space station up there, we're going to have to live sort of like we do down here on the ground," explains Astronaut Charles (Pete) Conrad, commander of the pioneering Skylab crew.

"Without getting fancy, but with good taste, we've tried to make Skylab habitable."

Along with individual sleeping quarters, Skylab will have a waste management compartment that, in Conrad's words, "resembles a real honest-to-gosh john." There is a wash basin, mirror and even a shower designed to work in weightless space. To conserve water, however, astronauts will be limited to one shower a week.

Everything that can be stored for eight months will go aboard the initial launch of the unmanned Skylab May 14. Crewmen following the next day to rendezvous and dock with the spacecraft will carry only a few critical items.

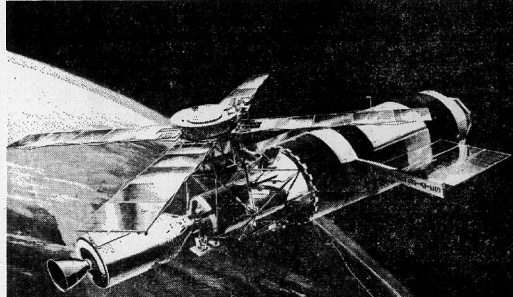

There for the first time will be 2,000 pounds stored in 11 containers and five freezers—a mixture of frozen, dehydrated and dry foods packaged mostly in metal cans with pull-off tops. More than 12,000 gallons of water must last the three crews for drinking, food preparation, showers and other needs.

Astronauts won't be able to wash their clothes, so there will be 60 changes of jackets, shirts and trousers for the nine spacemen, along with boots, gloves and shorts.

Skylab for the first time will make it possible to rescue American astronauts stranded in space.

Astronauts will fly to and from Skylab in a modified Apollo command ship which will dock on to the space station while they live and work there. Skylab itself won't return to earth, even after the three missions are ended, until it finally slows, dips back into earth's atmosphere and disintegrates.

Because something could go wrong with the Apollo "ferry," a second Apollo craft will stand by ready to travel up 270 miles in space to retrieve the orbiting Skylab crew.

SKYLAB CLUSTER—America's first manned space station, scheduled for launch in mid-May, circles 270 miles above earth in this Martin Marietta artist's conception of the strange-looking bird. From left are Apollo spacecraft which will taxi astronaut crews between earth and space; Multiple Docking Adapter serving as an experiment control center and space dock; the Apollo Telescope Mount, a solar observatory; the airlock module, doorway to space during astronaut walks outside their workshop, and the Orbital Workshop which contains crew quarters and experiment areas. Skylab, 118 feet long, contains about the same space as a modest two-bedroom house. Its two sets of solar energy panels on top develop enough electrical power to supply four average homes.

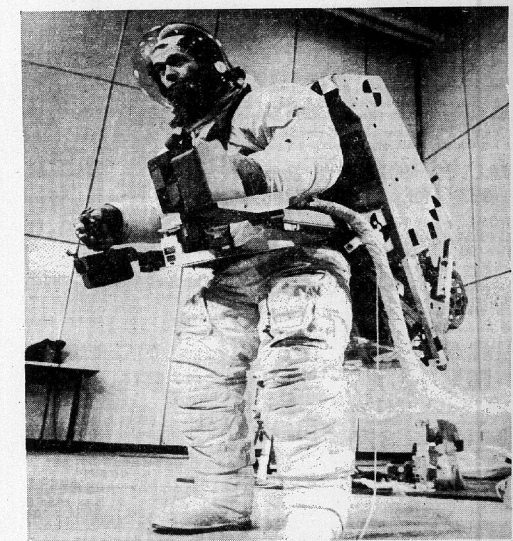

wrong with the Apollo "ferry," a second Apollo craft will stand by ready to travel up 270 miles in space to retrieve the orbiting Skylab crew.

A special emergency kit can convert the three-man Apollo module into a five-seat rescue ship. The Apollo would carry two men on a rescue flight, use a spare docking port to link up with the Skylab, pick up the three space station crewmen and return to an ocean splashdown with five men.

The additional space in the Apollo craft would be made by removing scientific lockers, television equipment and other gear from the aft bulkhead of the cabin. Two extra couches would be mounted beneath the three regular seats.

If an emergency develops in space, the plan is to use the next available Apollo-Saturn combination as a rescue ship, even though it would mean slowing the remaining Skylab timetable. After the third Skylab crew is launched in November, a fourth Apollo and Saturn will be readied for launch, on the possibility that a rescue might be required during the final 56-day mission.

SKYLAB GARB—Astronaut Bruce McCandless models what the well-dressed Skylab spaceman will wear as he tests the balance and control of a maneuvering unit at Martin Marietta Corp.'s Denver Division. It will be flown inside the Skylab orbiting workshop during upcoming missions beginning in mid-May to find out more about how man can maneuver in the weightlessness of space.

First U.S. space station will test man's endurance

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

The United States on May 14 will take a long new stride toward exploiting man's potential in space.

The unmanned Skylab-I will be launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 1:30 p.m. (EDT) that day atop a two-stage Saturn 5 booster propelling the nation's first space station into a near-circular 270-mile-high earth orbit.

The following day, May 15, at 1 p.m. (EDT) three astronauts will take off from Cape Kennedy aboard a modified Apollo spaceship boosted by a Saturn 1B rocket to link up with the Skylab orbital workshop, about the size of a two-bedroom bungalow. Astronaut Charles (Pete) Conrad, 42, a veteran of an earlier Gemini flight and the third man to walk on the moon as commander of the Apollo 12 mission, will be Skylab-I skipper. With him will be Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, 40, a Navy physician-astronaut and the first U.S. medical doctor to fly in space, and Paul J. Weitz, 39, a Navy pilot.

Their manifold mission for the next 28 days will be to find out just how tough man is in the weightlessness of space for prolonged periods, to learn more about the sun's effect on earth and its environment and to note the subtle but constant changes in the earth's resources—its farms and forests, oceans, even its mineral deposits.

Two additional Skylab missions of 56 days each are to follow, so that nine astronauts will spend about five months or 9,000 man-hours each working in the orbital workshop—the scooped-out innards of a converted 543 third stage of the Saturn 5 moon rocket.

Alan L. Bean, who explored the moon's Ocean of Storms in November 1969 with Conrad, will command the second Skylab crew when it rockets to the space station aboard the Apollo "ferry" about Aug. 8, some 56 days after the first crew has returned to earth. With Bean will be Dr. Owen K. Garriott, a civilian electrical engineer and scientist-astronaut, and Jack R. Louman, an astronautical engineer and marine jet pilot. Garriott and Louman are space rookies.

The final Skylab mission is scheduled for launch Nov. 9—about 30 days after the second crew returns from its 56-day flight aboard the 168,000-pound space laboratory. It will be commanded by Gerald P. Carr, another marine pilot. Dr. Edward G. Ghlin, a civilian engineer scientist-astronaut, and William R. Pogue, an Air Force jet pilot, will inhabit Skylab with Carr for eight weeks. All three will be making their first space flight.

Skylab will be outfitted with nearly 100 experiments, some of them proposed by U.S. high school science students. But during all three missions, emphasis will be on man's ability to live and work usefully in space to unlock new secrets about the sun and its influence on earth and to learn more about the subtle but constant changes in the earth's resources—its farms and forests, oceans, even its mineral deposits.

Two additional Skylab missions of 56 days each are to follow, so that nine astronauts will spend about five months or 9,000 man-hours each working in the orbital workshop—the scooped-out innards of a converted 543 third stage of the Saturn 5

The Russians pioneered orbital laboratories with their Soyuz 10 and Soyuz 11. The latter rode for 22 days to set a new endurance record, but its three-man crew perished last June when the craft sprung a leak and depressurized on the journey back to earth.

Unless NASA changes its plans, Skylab will be done in orbit after the last crew leaves Jan. 4 for splashdown in the eastern Pacific. The space agency has plenty of leftover hardware, including boosters and spaceships, for two additional Skylab flights. What it lacks, however, is enough money to finance an extension of Skylab.

Unlike earlier U.S. manned space missions, experiments are the prime motivation behind Skylab. Hence emphasis will be on the rather than on operation and maintenance of the highly automated spacecraft. The crew will work as flight astronauts only during launch, rendezvous and docking with the orbital workshop and during the post-mission return to earth.

Skylab ground controllers at the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center, Houston, will keep tabs on the space station's orbit, transmitting information to the guidance system each night and controlling the workshop's flight behavior. Even some experiments not requiring the astronauts' personal attention will be monitored from earth.

Crews will divide their days roughly into three 8-hour work, rest and sleep periods. "I have no doubt that on the 28-day mission we're going up there with more than we can do," says Conrad. Skylab's size—12,763 cubic feet with the workshop, airlock module for entering and leaving, docking adapter and the "ferry" ship—may create some special problems for the astronauts. Each time U.S. spacemen have moved up to larger craft—from the one-man Mercury to the two-man Gemini and finally the three-man Apollo—they have suffered some vertigo and motion sickness until they learned how to move properly in the enlarged area.

Dr. Kerwin says Skylab crews must be careful to avoid "industrial type" accidents as they move about the space station, such as lacerations, bone fractures or sprained joints. He points out Skylab planners consulted specialists about what types of injuries could be anticipated and which might be serious enough to force aborting of a mission.

Skylab crewmen will wear shoes with wedge-shaped cleats that lock into metal grillwork on the workshop floor panels to anchor them in place at work stations.

In cases of bone fractures, they would be set and splinted in the workshop. In the weightless environment before subjecting them to the gravity stresses of re-entry, according to Kerwin.

On the 26th day of the Skylab-I mission, Kerwin will leave the workshop on a three-hour space walk to retrieve film packets from the Apollo Telescope Mount solar observatory. From this film scientists hope to learn more about the sun's functions, its impact on the planetary system and especially on our own planet.

Skylab astronauts won't have much time to look back, or down. The workshop is equipped with a teleprinter on which each night ground control will send up the mission plan for the following day.

I'M MAT MATSON President of Granite Chrysler

Like the rest of Our Salespeople, Nick lives in Granite City. Nick knows the people of the area, Nick knows cars. Nick likes cars, and people like Nick. He'll tell you about our cars and give you his own appraisal of years. He's young and ambitious and is anxious to count you among his regular customers in the future.

STEVE RAINS Steve is in charge of Our Leasing and Rental Department. A graduate of the Univ. of Missouri, Steve received his background in vehicle leasing at one of St. Louis' larger lease firms. Steve believes in leasing, but if he can't convince you of its advantages, he'll show you ways to save money on the purchase of a new Plymouth, Chrysler or Imperial.

I'll guarantee you that you won't find two nicer guys in the automobile business! They're just two more reasons why our dealership is the place to come; whether it's for sales, service or leasing - You'll like us! We're the EXTRA CARE PEOPLE!
